DEADBEAT

ISSUE ONE

DEADBEAT, STILL

DYING WAS THE EASY PART.

Tucker Weatherford III had always dreamed of doing absolutely nothing with his life. Turns out, dying didn't change the plan.

Tuck approached dinner with the careful standards of a raccoon at closing time.

The pizza was three days old. Tuck called that "aged."

By sundown, Havenbrook had converted concern into surveillance.

Your yard
is destroying property values.

Finally, something
around here is affordable.

The HOA had identified
the neighborhood's greatest threat. It was sitting comfortably.

I'm
documenting this.

Try my good side.
It appraises lower.

She documented
the decline. Tuck
considered it
community service.
